Many Attend Funeral Of Miss Ferguson

The funeral of Miss Elsie Ferguson of Prosperity took place on Thursday October 23. at Chauvin cemetery.

A great number of relatives and friends gathered at the home where service was held, conducted by Rev. W. Mackenzie. After which the cortege proceeded to the cemetery, being augmented by many sympathizers as it passed through Chauvin. On reaching the grave side a short service was held. Many and beautiful were the floral tributes which adorned the coffin, silently testifying to the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Messrs A. L. Taylor, H. Hassall, Ted Spence, Adam Spence, George Snell, and Alf Spence acted as pall bearers.

Miss Ferguson was born in Winnipeg in 1901, and came west with her parents in 1907.

We express the sympathy of the whole district with her father, three sisters and three brothers who are left to mourn her loss.

Our Western Prairie Soils

Their virgin richness: depletion of nitrogen and humus by continuous grain growing; the maintenance of their fertility by rotations and mixed farming.

An instructive and valuable paper entitled "The Influence of Cropping on the Nitrogen and Organic Matter content of the Western Prairie Soils" was read at the recent meeting of the British Advancement of Science, in Toronto, by Dr. Frank T. Shutt, Dominion Chemist.

The author presented a detailed account of certain investigations which he carried on during the past ten years to determine the effect of continuous grain growing (with summerfallowing) and cropping under a scheme of rotations including the growth of grasses and clovers, on soils of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. In the following paragraphs an endeavor has been made to epitomize the results and to bring out salient features of this investigation.

The Fertility of the Prairie
The outstanding characteristic of the virgin soils of the western prairies is their high nitrogen and humus content—a feature to which they owe more than to any other their remarkable fertility and lasting quality. The nitrogen holding organic matter is well broken down and intimately associated with the mineral constituents making a homogeneous soil, with conditions at once favorable to a satisfactory tilth, to moisture conservation and rapid nitrification—the process carried on by the soils micro-organisms and which prepares nitrogen as food for crops.

Soils of the Red River Valley—the first prairie steppe—have shown from 3 to 1.0 per cent of nitrogen, calculated to a water-free basis, which means from approximately 8000 lbs to 35,000 lbs of this essential and valuable element in an acre of soil to the depth of one foot. Ordinary good fertile soils, to a like depth contain from 3500 lbs to 10,000 lbs. Saskatchewan soils of good quality have shown from .35 p.c. to .50 p.c. of nitrogen and Alaskan soils of recognized fertility have given a range of from .32 p.c. to .67 p.c. nitrogen. The percentage of the mineral constituents, phosphoric acid, potash and lime are all notable and the proportions of these in an "available" condition are far above the average for productive soils of Eastern Canada.

It is seen therefore that for richness in plant food, more especially in nitrogen, and for a favorable physical condition due chiefly to the large proportion of semi-decomposed organic matter they contain, these prairie soils are in a class by themselves.

Teachers' Hold Convention At Wainwright

The fifth annual convention of the teachers of the Wainwright inspectorate was held October 16 and 17 in the Wainwright High school, with an attendance of about eighty teachers.

After registration the convention was opened by the address of welcome delivered by Major Gerow of Wainwright. This was replied to by Miss J. L. S. S.

Committees were then appointed as follows:

Nomination Committee: Miss McKay, Mr. McShane and Mr. G. Saul. Resolutions committee: Mr. Line, Mrs. Clark and Miss Brunner.

The serious work of the convention then followed, consisting of demonstrations, inspirational addresses and papers involving the technique of teaching.

Among those taking part were the following: Mr. McNeilly, Provincial Supervisor of Education, Schools, Rev. J. McLagan, Mr. Rogers, Mr. Barnett, General Secretary of Teachers' Alliance, Miss M. B. Reid, Miss Clark, Miss Banks, Mrs. Reid, Miss Brunner, Miss Fleming, Miss Wilcox, Mr. Saul.

The evening session, held on Thursday, was of a social nature, and proved an enjoyable break in the proceedings. This session was held on the theatre which was crowded to capacity by teachers and general public. Professor Burt of the University of Alberta delivered an extremely interesting address "What is the world coming to?" This was followed by various musical numbers by pupils of the Wainwright school after which an enjoyable dance brought the evening to a close.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: Hon. Pres.—Mr. M. O. Nelson. Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Clark, Coburg S.D. Vice-Pres.—Mr. Reed, Irma Sec. Treas.—Miss Douglas, Chauvin S.D.

Executive Com.—Miss Brunner, W. Suckling, and G. Thompson.

It was felt by all that in these two days much had been accomplished towards keeping up the efficiency of the teaching staffs, and it is perhaps regrettable that present circumstances do not allow of more than one local convention each year.

An earnest desire to keep education practical and to fit the pupil to the best advantage for the work and responsibilities of adult life, coupled with closer union of parent, pupil and teacher was the keynote of this convention.

"We're going to live in a better district after this."

"So are we."

"Why, are you moving too?"

"No, we're staying here."

Three reasons for the attractiveness of "The Wild Party." Universal attraction starring Gladys Walton, coming to Chauvin Monday next November 3rd and Edgerton, Tuesday Nov 4th are the beautiful women that play the leading roles in the play. Miss Walton's beauty and charming personality have established her as one of the ranking stars of the screen. The other two beautiful women are Esther Ralston, popular Universal leading woman, and Dorothy Valera, a newcomer, but undoubtedly a find.

The lantern-jawed man is not necessarily a brilliant conversationalist.

"But, mummy, I heard dad say fingers were made before forks."

"Not yours, Tommy, dear."

Winter Bee Feeding

Two of the essentials for good wintering of bees are young bees and ample stores. To secure the first, young bees, a natural fall flow or an artificial flow produced by feedings is required to stimulate brood production. If ample stores are lacking they must be provided by feeding.

The feed supplied may be either a honey or a sugar syrup, and in making the latter none but the best white granulated sugar should be used.

For stimulative feeding, a light syrup of approximately one part honey or sugar to one part water is best. This syrup may be given to the bees in various ways, but the one most generally used is the honey pail method which consists in inverting a 5 or 10 pound honey pail of syrup over the frames, thus covering each with a 3 or 4 inches of oil, pierced by a fine nail.

Colonies wintered clear should weigh 60 to 65 pounds, without hive cover, and those wintered outside from 70 to 75 pounds. Any deficiencies should be made up by feeding one pound sugar for every pound lacking in stores. The syrup given in this case should consist of 2 parts sugar to one part water, or 5 parts honey to one part water, and should be fed from 10 pound honey pails as above described, each pail having 40 to 50 small nail holes in the cover. Feed may be given either hot or cold. When fed hot, however, there is a greater danger of granulation but the syrup is more readily taken down by the bees.

Feeding should be done about the first of October, as rapidly as possible and in the evening to avoid disturbance.

Friend: "I suppose you are sent pretty busy digging graves" Sexton: "Sometimes I am, and sometimes I ain't. The trouble is people won't die regular."

Comparatively few of the thousands of miles of railroad in Canada are electrified, but there is no railway organization which does not rely to a greater or lesser extent on electricity as an aid to efficient operation and service. Electricity plays an important part in all of the great Railroad Shops through the country. Some trains and cars are operated by power directly transmitted or stored in batteries. Bridges are operated, and a thousand and one electrical devices are in constant use which beside being labor saving do away with the human element which might make for inefficiency. Numbered among these are the automatic Block Signals which one finds distributed along the line of the Canadian Pacific, and notice particularly in the Rocky Mountain passes where they are more urgently required.

To the average layman an automatic signal is just a signal, and the general public is only interested in it because it gives added protection, or rather eliminates possible danger from the portion of track which it governs. To the railroad official it is more. It acts as watchman against broken rails, open switches, a fouled track or any other obstruction. Through a circuit in the rail this is accomplished, and if the circuit be broken, for the reason that another train is occupying the block, or that there is an open switch, a broken rail, washout or other obstruction, then the train approaching the signal may not pass. And while it awaits a through signal, trains following in the rear may not approach for the reason that they are also stopped by an automatic signal which will not release them until the preceding train has passed from that section of the track which they desire to enter. A perfect system. No electrical circuit — no through signal — no train may pass.

The value of this system in the Rockies can hardly be over-estimated. Not only is labor saved, but the company is able to ensure absolute protection.

Editorial Comment

The pupil at the rural school can only obtain an average of from 800 to 900 hours schooling per year. Expressed in terms of labor we may say, about 20 weeks of 44 hours.

How brief this period is may be realized when we consider that in seven such years the pupil will only have spent a period equal to 140 weeks, or roughly two and three quarter years of labor weeks.

Those who say that the farmer works sixteen hours ver day would therefore express the schooling period as being equal to slightly less than a year and a half farm work.

Without any shadow of doubt this period is all too short, and seeing that it is all but impossible to lengthen this period for the vast majority of pupils, it gives us an opportunity to gain an idea as to how little can be accomplished and in no small measure why the present complicated curriculum. But as we have to deal with ordinary, honest, intelligent teachers, and ordinary, honest, and somewhat playful children, it is possible to obtain ideal results from the present complicated curriculum. But as we have to deal with ordinary, honest, intelligent teachers, and ordinary, honest, and somewhat playful children, it it is apparent that theoretical possibilities and practical possibilities are not one and the same thing.

Reading, 'Riting and 'Rithmetic, which the old fashioned pedagogue was supposed to impart with the aid of a stick, still remain fundamentals, and they will signal pre-eminent position in the curriculum.

During the struggle to place education within the reach of have to be replaced in their or every child the term, "public" school has gained in favor and in use. The term "elementary" has to a large measure been forgotten. But the fact still remains that to reach the highest standard of educational usefulness our rural and village schools must be conducted with the vision of giving the scholar a thorough grounding and grip of the elements of education—readin', 'ritin and 'rithmetic.

YOUR WINDOW PANE AS A LEAD-IN

A good lead-in can be made by coating a piece of tinfoil with shellac, and pasting it to the outside of the window-pane, and then doing the same thing on the inside of the window. The two sheets of tinfoil should occupy the same relative position on both sides of the pane of glass. The antenna is connected to the outer sheet and the antenna-binding post of the set is connected pieces of tinfoil act as a series of lead-in sheet. ## A Smile's Worth While

"What makes you think he is insane?" asked the doctor of the young Irish policeman, whose strong hands held a struggling Scotsman.

"Shure, an' phwat else could he be? Didn't he take a bottle of whisky out of his pocket an' say: 'Have one at my expense, guv'nor.'?"

"D'ye ken this wireless, Bob, is just like the rows me an' ma missus hae."

"How's that, Jock?"

"Words over nothing, Bob."

Housewife (to tramp): "Did you notice that pile of wood in the yard?"

Hobo: "Yes'm I see it."

"You should mind your grammar. You mean you saw it."

"No'm, You saw me see it, but you ain't see me saw it."

C: "Don't you think music is soothing?"

D: "Music, you know, covers a multitude of sins."

Mr. "My doctor says I can't play golf."

Miss: "So he's played with you, too."

Pessimist: "Well, what's your latest maxim?"

Optimist: "If you can't laugh, smile until you gas."

Doris: "When they came back from their honeymoon he had ten dollars in his pocket."

May: "Stingy thing."

M: "A pretty little widow gave me a box of cigars for my birthday."

N: "Beware of widow's weeds, old man."

P: "No matter where he goes, he always gets credit."

Q: "Yes, but he never goes to the same place twice."

Policeman: "Describe the missing ladies to me, will you, sir?"

Man: "Well, one was quite pretty, but the other looked like an accident going somewhere to happen."

Mrs A: "How do you like the new laundry?"

Mrs B: "Very well, indeed. I sent a dozen collars last week and every one of the buttonholes came back."

Magistrate: "You say you saw the defendant standing at the street corner?"

Witness: "Yes, your worship, and while I stood there watching he put his fingers to his mouth and whistled."

"And what followed?"

"His dog, your worship."

The teacher was about to dismiss school for the holidays.

"Now, children," she said, "I hope that you will have a very pleasant time, and what is more important, that you will all come back with a bit of sense in your heads."

Promptly came the chorus of voices: "Same to you, miss!"

A small boy came to school one day with dirty hands.

"Tommy," the teacher said to him, "I wish you wouldn't come to school with such dirty hands. What would you say if I came to school with dust and ink all over my fingers?"

"I wouldn't say anything," answered the child, "I'd be too polite."

"Will you give me your tail or's address?"

"Yes, if you don't give him mine."

Father had been telling Willie about the sun being millions of miles from the earth.

"What I can't understand," said the boy, "is how the sun's light manages to get here so early in the morning without travelling all night."

Granny: "You girls are so use less nowadays. Why I don't believe you know what needles are for."

"What a dear old granny you are! Why, they are to make the gramophone play, of course."

Two men were becoming abusive in the course of a political quarrel.

"I think," cried one of them, "that there is just one thing that saves you from being a hare-brained liar."

"You are an, hour, late this morning, Sam," said an employer to his negro servant.

"Yes, sah. I was kicked by a mule on my way, sah!"

"That ought not to have detained you an hour, Sam."

"Well, yo see, boss, he kicked me de other way."

"Here's the tale of a car—I'll unfold it."

The thing was so slow It wouldn't e'en go— But it went on the day that I sold it.

Here's the tale of the fellow who bought it.

It ran by a phone post and caught it.

If you're wanting a car. Well, old chap, here you are— It's yours if you'll just come and sort it.

"Phwat are thim buckets for on the shelf in the hall?" asked one Irishman of another.

"Can't ye read? It says on them: 'For Fire Only'."

"Thin why do they put wather in thim?"

OUR WESTERN PRAIRIE SOILS

The Influence of Grain Growing on the Soil's Fertility

Grain growing as practised on the prairies, looking to the upkeep of soil fertility must be regarded as rational and wasteful, for it means not only the carrying off in the grain sold much plant food without any attempt at its return, but what appears to be still more serious—the destruction of much organic matter and the dissipation of nitrogen consequent upon summerfallowing. Further, this is a practice which breaks up the soil's fibre, permitting the soil on drying to become powdery and to blow or drift under the strong winds prevailing in the prairies. The loss of valuable surface soil from this cause has become very serious in many districts. chesidist

One illustration may suffice of this influence of the common practice of grain growing on the nitrogen content of the soil; although this soil is, to-day exceedingly rich and undoubtedly very fertile the data shows the enormous loss of nitrogen that has taken place.

Lbs. per acre of Nitrogen to adepth of 8 inches
Virgin soil .. .. .	8580
Cultivated Soil, 38 yrs. (1884-1922)	5180
Difference or Loss due to removed in crops and to cultural operations ..	3400

Removed by grain crops	1465
Difference or amount dissipated by following and other cultural operations ..	1935
	3400

All through this investigation in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and showed that grain growing with is destructive of the soil's nitrogen to a very serious degree.

The Maintenance of Soil Fertility Through Rotations and the Keeping of Livestock

This investigation carried on in all three of the provinces including theanalysis of soils from plots under rotations as well as frof those exclusively devoted to grain growing, collections for examination being made at the beginning and close of the experimental period. In every instance—there was not one exception—the soil from plots under exclusive grain growing showed a distinct, and in the majority of cases, a notable loss of nitrogen and organic matter.

On the other hand the soil from plots under rotation, which included periodic seeding down to grasses and clovers (in Alberta, alfalfa), had maintained or in creased its nitrogen and organic matter content.

The lesson is obvious. If we are to maintain unimpaired the wonderful heritage, the almost invaluable asset that Canada prairies, the present practice of growing grain must be considerably modified. More mixed farming (which of course implies the return of plant food in the form of manure) and especially the adoption of a rotation introducing grasses and clovers are to be advised as the rational means toward the maintenance of fertility. With a farming practice bearing these constantly in view—the adoption of a scheme of soil management which will include hie return of part of the plant food and, what is equally important, the systematic putting of the land into sod (grasses and clovers), we believe that the problem of fertility maintenance will be successfully solved.
